Flour And Wheat

Demand Is Spotted Canadian Orders Arrivals Are Short

THE demand for imported flour and wheat has been spotted for some weeks, and very little business of importance is transpiring in Shanghai, the flour mills being content for the time being to look on, confident that the stocks they have already ordered will see them through till March next. Of course, the shrinkage in the deliveries of indigenous wheat will hasten the resumption of purchases on a large scale. Already the millers are considering the question of further imports, and have been taking an interest in prices of the different grades of wheat.

It is likely that large orders for Canadian wheat will be placed very shortly, as the quotation for this compares very favorably with that for Western Red No. 2. Canadian wheat is rated at G. $41.50 per ton c. i. f. Shanghai, eqquivalent to Tls. 4.05 per picul, while Hard Pacific or Western Red No. 2 is round G. $42.20 to G. $42.50 per ton, or in other words, Tls. 4.10 per picul exgodown Shanghai. Chinese wheat is standing today at Tls. 3.80 per picul, but millers prefer the imported variety owing to its cleanliness and its better milling qualities.

Arrivals of Chinese wheat average some 1,000 to 2,000 bags a day. This is insufficient for the needs of the local mills, and were the supplies of imported wheat not as large as they have been recently some of them would have been compelled to restrict operations. Stocks of Chinese wheat in the possession of the flour mills in Shanghai are not large. Last week there arrived from the United States some 20,000 tons of wheat for the mills, and this they are grinding fast.

DEMAND IS GOOD

The demand for flour from the different parts of China is exceedingly good and the turnover of the mills is once again very heavy. Supplies are getting less, being now around 100,000 sacks. All the mills are working with the exception of one mill which was burnt down the other day. It was a small mill with capacity of some 300 barrels.

Although supplies in the hands of the local flour mills of imported wheat are considered ample, these would have to be supplemented. Even if orders are placed now in the United States it will be some months before the cargo would be delivered here and, what is more important, freight space is difficult to secure both from the Pacific Coast of the United States and from Vancouver. Canadian exporters are obliged to charter steamers in which to make shipments of wheat already sold to Shanghai mills. The volume of export business in wheat sent to China by Canada has not been very large this season, but there is every reason to expect that a much better trade will soon begin to be done in Canadian wheat.

There is nothing doing in wheat from Australia, but there are indications that very shortly some trade will result in the new crop with the Shanghai flour mills. The present quotation for Australian wheat is around £10 13s. per ton c.i.f. Shanghai. Australian flour is rated high for the Shanghai market. The ruling rate of £12 15s. per ton, equivalent to Tls. 2.05 per sack, does not suit the buyers here, and unless the quotation gets shaded down the likelihood of any business in this grade being brought to book is small.

The large and steady arrivals of flour indented from the United States have served to depress the local flour market. Recent deliveries have been heavy, averaging some ten thousand tons per week. Chinese-milled flour has consequently climbed down to Tls. 1.95 per sack on the Flour Exchange from Tls. 2.02, at which it stood some ten days ago.

It is expected that freight rates from January 1 from the Pacific Coast to the Orient will be increased and for that reason the mills on the other side are not anxious to quote beyond the end of December. There have been a few transactions in American flour for shipment in January and February and were the American mills willing to quote for these months a little more freely than they are doing now the turnover would be larger. An interesting feature of the arrivals of imported flour is that they are quickly despatched into the interior and absorbed rapidly.

There was a fear that the very large importations of American flour would cause a glut on the Shanghai market, but this seems to have been a bogey. On the contrary, the demand is still good although not as strong as previous months. Nevertheless it gives hope for better trade in the near future in the imported varieties. The greater part of the demand for American flour appears to be from Northern China, which consumes more flour than rice.

There have been large importations of American flour into Hong-

U.S. SAILORS RETURN FIRE OF SOLDIERY AT CHANGSHA

Guard On Barge Has Thrilling Fight On River

NO CASUALTIES

Vessel Makes Brave Try; Forced To Put Back

BY JUNIUS B. WOOD
(Exclusive CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, Nov. 9.—A thrilling description of the attempt made by a Standard Oil barge to fight its way up the Siang River from Changsha is given in the report of Lieut. Grosskopf, U.S.N., who commands the armed guard which was put aboard the barge by Rear-Admiral W. W. Phelps, commander of the American Yangtsze patrol.

The trip, Lieut. Grosskopf reported, was peaceful until Changsha was passed. Fighting started the next evening. Soldiers entrenched on the river banks opened fire, which was returned by machine gun fire by the American bluejackets who were stretched out in back of sand-bags on the decks of the barge.

After twenty minutes of firing the attack was silenced and the barge was anchored for the night beneath the shelter of the village walls.

The attack was recommenced when the barge resumed its voyage the following morning. After two hours' steaming through a continuous gauntlet of trenches on either bank, during which time thousands of rounds of ammunition were exchanged, the barge found shelter on the leeside of an island, turned about, and abandoned the attempt.

Although there were no casualties among the Americans the barge was scarred from stem to stern with bullets when it again reached Changsha.

LAND SUBSIDES IN KAGOSHIMA SEA RUSHES IN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kagoshima, Nov. 8.—A land-subsidence over 2½ acres occurred today at the village of Susaki in the Kagoshima prefecture. The sea rushed in to a depth of 5 to 3 fathoms. The people fled to the hills. There were no casualties. One stable was swept away. Kagoshima recently experienced two earthquake shocks.

MR. G. Luders de Negri, Consul-General for Mexico In China, who has recommended that Mexico's only Consulate, now in Hongkong be moved here.

MEXICAN CONSUL GENERAL PLANS TO COME HERE

Recommends Offices Be Moved From Hongkong To Shanghai

The Mexican Consulate-General in Hongkong may be removed to Shanghai within the next few months, according to announcement made last night by Mr. G. Luders de Negri, Consul-General for the Republic south of the Rio Grande in the only Consular offices they maintain in China.

Mr. Luders, who is at the Palace Hotel for a few days en route to Hongkong after a conference with Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, the Mexican Minister at Peking, said last night that one of the chief points discussed in his conversations with the Minister was the question of the removal of the Consulate-General.

The Mexican Consulate-General has been located in Hongkong for a number of years chiefly because of the fact that the chief intercourse between Mexico and China has been the immigration of Chinese from South China. Recently, however, Mexico has put up a bar against Chinese laborers entering Mexico because of the surplus of labor already there, and as little trade goes on between the two countries the need of a Consulate-

(Exclusive China Press)

Mitchell Field, New York, Nov. 9.—Lieutenant Alvord J. Williams, United States Navy aviator, who has won several airplane speed records during the last week, today established what is thought to be an official record for rapid climbing when his plane rose 5,000 feet in one minute.

FOREIGNERS ARE HELD IN ARMS DEALS ON YANGTSZE

Widespread Disposal Of Munitions Is Charge

FOUR ARRESTED

Dramatic Story Told Regarding One Accused

(Independent News Service)
(Ex. to the China Press)

Hankow, Nov. 9.—Alleged gun-running by foreigners in the turbulent provinces along the upper Yangtsze rivalling the most thrilling episodes in the ranks of the free-booters and soldiers of fortune of fiction is now the center of interest among foreigners here and a cause of considerable perplexity to the Chinese officials of Hupeh.

Four foreigners are now under arrest charged with selling arms and ammunition of all descriptions to any and all purchasers in the civil-war stricken area radiating in all directions from Hankow. Their impartiality in selling munitions to the warring factions is equalled, it is said only by the agility with which they, chameleonlike, change their citizenship, according to a radio received from the American gunboat Monacacy now at Wanhsien.

The most dramatic story revolves about Mr. E. Widler, formerly of Shanghai who was once sentenced to be shot. Widler, originally said to be a British subject, claimed Swiss citizenship when he was arrested by the Chinese military authorities charged with selling guns to outlaws.

ARMS ARE SEIZED

Widler was unable to communicate with the Swiss authorities in China so Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps, Commander of the American Yangtsze patrol, telegraphed to Major J. L. Isler, the Swiss Consul in Shanghai, informing him of the facts, and Major Isler, according to reports here, is now attempting to secure his release.

Widler was arrested by troops under General Wu Pei-fu after a cargo of arms aboard a French steamer, alleged to belong to him, were seized at Chungking in October.

The Chinese troops took devilish delight in heaping every possible indignity upon Widler. Every day for two weeks he was taken from his dungeon-jail, loaded down with heavy iron chains, and paraded through the streets of Chungking for the edification of the Chinese, sneering and laughing, who lined the streets to see the spectacle.

After a fortnight of such treatment the authorities issued circulars announcing their intention to shoot the foreigner and a great crowd of morbidly curious Chinese gathered at the execution grounds. While marching to the execution grounds Widler, in some unknown manner, managed to escape, cheating the gathered mob of their 'party,' but was recaptured two weeks later when he reached Wanhsien. The present status of Widler's case is unknown.

OTHERS ARRESTED

Two other foreigners arrested for the same alleged crime whose activities are very likely to lead to international complications are

Sir John Jordan Warns Of Insidious Attack On British Trade In China

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 8.—Sir John Jordan in his speech at the dinner of the China Association in London, referring to the efforts to develop inter-imperial trade, declared that trade outside the Empire was equally important. China's foreign trade was nearly £300,000,000 and she was the largest undeveloped world market today.

British trade in China was unsatisfactory. For example, export of cotton goods to China during the first six months of 1923 was only about one-eighth of the export to India, as compared to about one-quarter normally. At that rate the trade would only employ about 50,000 men instead [illegible] China was not the only cause of the decrease. The very foundations of British trade in China were being undermined by new and insidious assaults from without. Soviet envoys in Peking were preaching to applauding audiences of Chinese statesmen the doctrines which had brought Russia to her present state, and the seed was being sowed in receptive soil for a harvest of similar upheavals in China. Incessant vigilance was necessary to maintain the British position in China in the present dissolving conditions of the whole of the Eastern world.

Sir John Jordan paid a tribute to the great services of the Chambers of British Commerce in the Far East. He expressed the conviction that their wonderful patience and tenacity of purpose would pull the Chinese through their difficulties.

Sir John Jordan said that he understood that a legal difficulty had arisen with regard to the Anglo-American compromise with respect to the twelve-mile limit, namely, the question whether the effect of the projected treaty would be unconstitutional. Mr. Hughes, the United States Secretary for State, did not consider that the treaty would violate the Constitution, but the question could only be decided by a test case before the United States Supreme Court. He suggested that a rider might be added to the treaty that, if any part thereof were invalidated by a ruling of the Supreme Court, the whole treaty would fall, and thus there would be no danger that it would be modified to the detriment of either party.

WALTON LOSES COURT BATTLE IN KLAN WAR

Oklahoma Governor Must Face Impeachment Charges In Legislature

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Oklahoma City, Nov. 8.—The United States Circuit Court here today denied the petition of Governor J. L. Walton of Oklahoma for an injunction to restrain the state legislature from proceeding with his impeachment.

As a result of the court's decision, it is probable that the proceedings of the legislature will be speeded up and that an early decision will be reached.

The specific charges against Governor Walton concern his carrying his private chauffeur on the payrolls as an employe of the State Board of Health. The real opposition, however, is said to have developed as a result of the sensational fight which he directed at the Ku Klux Klan and his employment of state-wide martial law in what he described as an effort to "drive the Klan out of Oklahoma."

VON LUDENDORFF ASSUMES GENERAL COMMAND; STAND OF REICHSWEHR UNKNOWN

Serious Anxiety Is Expressed In France Over Possibility Of Military Dictatorship Which Would Repudiate Treaty Of Versailles

Dispatches received here last night seem to indicate that the Nationalist coup which has been brewing in Bavaria for some time has actually been carried out, and that Germany's war-time military leader, General Von Ludendorff has assumed control there.

That the new movement has elements of great international significance is indicated in dispatches from Paris which declare that serious anxiety is being expressed by the government there.

The Separatist movement in the Rhineland is still going on and a Palatinate Republic has been proclaimed. The French are apparently following out the policy set by Belgium recently in disarming and deporting the Separatists. At Bonn, 2,000 Separatists, it is said, were disarmed by the French.

Great Alarm Is Felt In Paris

Paris, Nov. 8.—The internal situation of Germany with the possibility of a military dictatorship, the declared programme of which would be repudiation of the Treaty of Versailles and of reparations, as well as preparation for a war of revenge, is causing serious anxiety in France. The French Government has informed Herr Stresemann that, without wishing to meddle in the internal affairs of Germany, it was desirous to [illegible] consolidation of a democratic regime, which seemed to it the best guarantee of peace in Europe and prosperity for Germany herself.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Government has instructed the French Ambassador at Berlin to express to the German Government its serious concern at the situation tending to the establishment of a dictatorship with a triple program of repudiating the Treaty, suppressing reparations and preparing for a war of revenge. The French Government again asserts its intention not to interfere in the internal affairs of Germany, but express a wish to see a real democratic Government speedily

South African Premier May Aid In Reparations Tangle, Belief

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 8.—General Smuts, who was due to sail for South Africa tomorrow, has postponed his departure for a week owing to developments arising from the work of the Imperial Conference.

Reuter's Agency has reason to believe that the postponement is due to advices from the Continent indicating a possibility of General Smuts effectively contributing to a solution of the Continental imbroglio. The South African Premier is co-operating very closely with the Foreign Office and he is also believed to be in close touch with Continental representatives entitled to speak on behalf of their respective Governments.

Hitler Confers With Von Kahr

(Reuter's Service)

Munich, Nov. 8.—After the Dictator, Dr. von Kahr, had spoken to a large Nationalist demonstration in the Burgerbraeu Beer Cellars here tonight, denouncing Marxist principles, the Fascist Leader, Herr von Hitler, entered with 600 men and announced that the Bavarian Government was overthrown. He added that the new Government was in the hands of General von Ludendorff, who was Commander-in-Chief, while he, Herr von Hitler, would be General von Ludendorff's political adviser, and, further, that the ex-Chief of the Munich Police, Herr von Poehner, had been appointed Administrator-General and General von Lossow Minister of Defence.

Herr Hitler's troops then surrounded the cellars. Later troops of the Oberland organisation with the colors of the Reich occupied a number of places, particularly open spaces.

There is no further news from the cellars, where it is believed that Dr. von Kahr and Herr von Hitler are negotiating. The attitude of the Reichswehr is not known. The Bavarian police have occupied the telegraph office.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 9.—An Imperial Government manifesto refuses to recognise the Bavarian overthrow and stated that measures will be carried out ruthlessly to stamp out the movement. The Government has cut off communication with Bavaria.

General von Seeckt has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Reich defence forces, with full powers to take necessary steps for the security of the Reich. The Minister of Defence has prohibited publication of any but semi-official reports of Munich events.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The fact that the revolutionary party in Bavaria have arrested the State Premier, Herr von Knilling, and arrogated to itself the right to constitute "government of the Reich" is disclosed by the Reich Government manifesto appealing for patriotic support. It further States that General von Ludendorff was made commander-in-chief of the whole German army and that Herr von Hitler, who was only naturalised some days ago, becomes arbiter of the destinies of Germany. The manifesto strongly denounces the Bavarian insurgents and warns that people supporting them are guilty of high treason. It points out the internal and external dangers to which the insurgents are exposing Bavaria and declares that, if the insurgents should be successful, the Reich's currency measures, which have notably improved the value of the mark abroad in the past 24 hours, would be nullified.

(Reuter's Service)

Bonn, Nov. 8.—Following the recent Belgian action against the

Separatists at Aix-la-Chapelle, the French at Bonn today rounded up 2,000 imported Separatists, who were disarmed, marched to station and deported in special trains.

The guards on all the roads leading to the British zone have been reinforced. Two prominent Separatists endeavoring to enter were arrested yesterday.

GERMAN MISSION WORKER STILL BANDIT CAPTIVE

Get Details Of Capture Of Mr. F. Strauss In Hunan

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Nov. 5.—Mr. F. Strauss a German missionary of the Liebenzeller Mission, which is affiliated with the China Inland Mission in Hunan Province, is still being held by Hunan bandits for a ransom of $10,000. While traveling in the interior during the last month, Mr. Strauss was captured by bandits on October 17 at a country village about sixth li from Hungkiang, the exact whereabout of the captive being unknown up to the present.

The details of the capture were contained in the following letter dated October 27 from the Rev. Henrich Witt of the same Mission:

"There is a matter of grave importance, namely, that according to news received tonight Mr. F. Strauss of Wukang, who had paid a visit to Hungkiang, on his way back, only 60 li off Hungkiang, has been taken by robbers on October 17.

"A telegram informing us at once of this sad act has not yet reached us. Only on the 22nd we received a telegram: Whereabouts unknown, endeavors so far fruitless. Witt.' This we did not understand and finally telegraphed back for the name of the person in question, as all our guessing was of no avail. Before any telegraphic answer a postcard arrived today, written on the 18th right after my brother got the news.

"Mr. Strauss considered the road perfectly safe, as he himself had come that way, and then his boy had been back to his station and had returned without the least danger being visible. He left Hungkiang on the 16th and was taken on the following morning by about 100 robbers, with whom there were 4 deserters belonging to a troop of Kweichow soldiers. His chair was left behind, while he and his boy had to follow them.

"After another 20 li the boy was sent back to Hungkiang with a message from Mr. Strauss saying that they wanted more than $10,000. He himself was kept in perfect peace, as he himself testifies in his message, whilst his boy went most of the time. Mr. Hollenweger and my brother went at once to see the Military Commander or the man acting for him. They hoped to get the release effected through the officer of those soldiers who himself was under arrest for their desertion. But the telegram mentioned above which we received on the 22nd shows that neither the officials nor our friends at Hungkiang have been able to effect anything."

General in the Crown Colony has disappeared.

"Mexico has been enjoying prosperity and peace for a number of years now, "Mr. Luders said, "and the businessmen of the country see the need for the expansion of foreign trade. In the past trade between China and Mexico and vice versa has been next to nothing. Practically the only imports from China have been food and goods for the Chinese in Mexico. We, in turn, have exported very little to China.

AFTER TRADE

"Mexico has such a variety of products in such large quantities that we can supply many of the things China needs and our investigation into the question of changing the present location of the Consulate-General has been based on that point. I have been in Hongkong only a month but I made a careful inquiry into conditions during that time, and my investigations in Peking and Shanghai have convinced me that Shanghai, not Hongkong, is the logical place for the Consulate-General. The Mexican Minister, Dr. Najera, agrees with that view.

Mr. Luders will be at the Palace until Tuesday, when he will sail for Hongkong. He said that immediately upon his return he would forward his report recommending that the Consulate-General be removed to Shanghai and was confident that he would receive a favorable reply within two months, or three at the most.

Mr. Luders emphasized that fact that Mexico had a great variety of tropical products they would like to export to China, mentioning particularly tobacco, lumber, silver, copper and oil.

"Mexico has over two hundred varieties of lumber, both hard and soft, "Mr. Luders said," and I believe there is a good market here for it. It is the best that grows. We have also immense natural reserves of oil that China could use and silver and copper in abundance.

"Mexico has been coming to the front as a producing nation more and more of late, and with the most favorable outcome of the recent negotiations between President Obregon and the United States leading toward the recognition of the government by Washington a boom in trade may be expected. Business has been going on slowly but surely despite non-recognition, and with Mexico fully restored in the society of nations no other word but 'boom' will describe the situation."

Mr. Luders comes from one of the oldest, wealthiest and best known families in Mexico, and has spent practically all his life in the republic's diplomatic and consular service. He has served as Consul in St. Louis, Chicago, Toronto, Los Angeles and San Francisco, from where he came to China.

Mr. Hugo Reiss is at present Acting Consul for Mexico in Shanghai. Mexico has no other consulates in China and no other diplomatic or trade offices with the exception of Peking, Hongkong and Shanghai.

DOMINIONS CONFERENCE SESSIONS AT LONDON END

Much Accomplished At Premiers' Meeting Is View

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 8.—The Imperial Conference met this afternoon to wind up business. The proceedings were marked by great cordiality. All the Premiers are unanimously of the opinion that the Conference has been most successful.

Mr. Baldwin said that the British Government was very grateful to the Dominion Premiers, whose long journeys had been quite justified by the results achieved. The Dominion Premiers expressed gratitude to Mr. Baldwin, the other British Ministers and the secretariat. Mr. Baldwin, on behalf of the Government, expressed the opinion that the unseen work of the Conference had been most extraordinarily useful, and also the work of the Dominion's secretariat.

The Economic Conference has passed a resolution recommending the adoption of the conclusions of the Geneva Customs Conference for the Simplification of Customs Formalities.

It was announced that the British Government proposed, firstly, to reduce the duty on wine of strength exceeding 30 percent to 2s. by doubling the existing preference and, secondly, to reduce the surtax on sparkling wines from the Empire to 6s. 3d. by increasing preference to 50 percent.

Reuter's Agency learns that the Dominions will be given preference of 6d. per gallon on grape juice.

The representatives the Dominions expressed their gratitude.

Sir Charles Addis made a statement with regard to the committee on inter-Imperial exchanges. All the delegates expressed the opinion that the conclusions of the committee would be of the greatest value in stimulating Imperial trade.

The Conference decided that Imperial Economic Committee should be composed of four representatives of Britain and two from each of the Dominions, two from India and two from the Crown Colonies.

Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame announced that the British Government had decided to recommend Parliament to make further preferences for the Dominions, including an increase to one-fourth in the case of tobacco and the imposition of an import duty of 10s. per cwt. on foreign canned salmon, whereas Empire products would be free.

In addition to the preferences, mentioned yesterday, the Conference unanimously expressed the opinion that thee methods, namely, subsidies, the grant of import licenses and the stablisation of prices, were impracticable, but very close co-operation between the various Governments and the producers' organisations was desirable in order to improve the marketing of agricultural products. The Conference passed a resolution reaffirming the principle that in all Government contracts preference should be given to goods produced in the Empire and, as far as practicable, the materials used in carrying out the contracts should be Empire products.

The Economic Conference unanimously adopted resolutions relating to the application of the Workmen's Compensation Act throughout the Dominions.

The resolution recommending the establishment of the Economic Committee, which will be of an advisory character, stipulates that no question having any reference to another part of the Empire may be referred to the Committee without the consent of the part concerned.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 20.—Speaking at the Compatriots Club on the fiscal controversy, Mr. Austen Chamberlain supported the measures adumbrated by the Government, but considered that they did not go far enough. He favored extension of preference to the main articles of Dominion production. Mr. Chamberlain urged Mr. Baldwin to invite the Dominions to make definite, concrete proposals with regard to the development they could undertake, if Britain undertook to consume the surplus of Dominions produce.

Viscount Milner also spoke in favour of protection.

an unnamed Russian and a Turk called Sultan Effendi Wouri, who were taken into custody by Wu Pei-fu's troops. The Russian is at present confined in the military prison at Wuchang, across the river from Hankow, while the Turk obtained his release to await trial.

The Turk is said to have produced papers proving his Brazilian citizenship when he was arrested. He claimed to have received the papers from the Consul for Brazil in Shanghai before embarking on his venture. As Brazil has extraterritorial rights in China he was ordered released and will be tried in the Brazilian Consular Court.

The quartette of foreigners is completed by Alexander Hjeldt, a Finn who was arrested by the Chinese on the charge of importing arms on a river vessel, on which he was second engineer, and sentenced to 21 months imprisonment. He was confined to jail for a considerable period before he could get into communication with the outside. He finally managed to get word to Captain G. Synnerberg, Consul for Finland in Shanghai, who took his case up through an appeal to the Chinese Minister in London and the Finnish Foreign Office. The Chinese authorities in Peking were induced to grant Hjeldt a new trial in the Hankow Criminal Court.

Mr. Widler, whose arrest and escape from death is chronicled in the above dispatch, is well known in Shanghai, where he was in business prior to his departure for the upper river. He is now engaged in business in Chungking under the firm name of Widler and Company.

Major Isler, Consul for Switzerland in Shanghai, last night confirmed the facts contained in the special dispatch to THE CHINA PRESS. Maior Isler said that he had received a communication from Widler in which practically the same facts were set forth.

Widler, according to Major Isler, is a Swiss citizen and he is now in communication with the Chinese authorities at Wanhsien, where Widler is supposedly held in jail, attempting to secure his removal for trial before the Swiss Consular Court in Shanghai.

SHANGHAI ANGLE

Nothing is known in Shanghai of the unnamed Russian mentioned in the dispatch as his case will very probably be handled through the Bureau for Russian Affairs in Hankow since Russians have lost their extraterritorial rights in China.

Mr. Hugo Reiss, Acting Consul for Brazil in Shanghai, said last night that he had no recollection of any one by the name of Sultan Effendi Wouri securing Brazilian papers. He was certain, he said, that the man had not received the papers from him personally. He likewise has received no information concerning the man's arrest and reported trial before the Brazilian Consular Court.

The case of Hjeldt is fairly well known to readers of THE CHINA PRESS. As soon as Hjeldt was able to communicate with Captain G. Synnerberg, Consul for Finland in Shanghai, Captain Synnerberg wired the Finnish Foreign Office in Helsingfors in his behalf. Finland has no treaty with China at the present time covering its citizens in this country and the Finnish diplomat and consular officers are not recognised by the Chinese Government so he was without any official information.

Captain Synnerberg, however, laid the facts before Commissioner for Foreign Affairs Hsu Yuan, and also wired Helsingfors, suggesting that the Foreign Office request the Chinese Minister in London to appeal to Peking in Hjeldt's behalf. The Chinese Minister's plea resulted in Peking agreeing to grant the Finn another trial before the Hankow Criminal Court, as he claimed he had been refused the right to be defended by a foreign lawyer and had been 'railroaded' to jail in his trial before the military offices.

MORE VESSELS OF N.Y.K. LINE HIT BY STRIKE

Nagasaki Maru Crew Walk Out on Ship's Arrival At Kobe

(Nihon Dempo)

Kobe, Nov. 9.—Up until last night there was little prospect of a settlement of the seamen's strike which has already tied up 14 big steamers in Kobe harbor.

The steamer Nagasaki Maru of the N.Y.K. line, which was on her way to resume her former run between Nagasaki and Shanghai, arrived in Kobe yesterday morning. Officials of the company had previously instructed her not to come alongside the wharf but to tie up at one of the buoys and sail the same afternoon. As soon as the vessel arrived in port, however, her crew joined the ranks of the strikers.

The Kobe office of the N.Y.K. is doing its best to arrange a settlement but so far has received no instructions from the company's head office on what policy to pursue.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, Nov. 9.—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha steamers Kumano Maru, Aki Maru and Shidzuoka Maru, the sailings of which were postponed till today, have again indefinitely postponed their departure, owing to the strike of the seamen, which shows no signs of abatement.

The Shanghai Maru arrived at Nagasaki today. Some members of the crew wired to the Seamen's Union at Kobe their decision to join the strike, but it is reported that the Union replied deprecating their joining and saying that a strike at Kobe was sufficient.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Kobe, Nov. 8.—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha vessels now laid up in the port total seventeen. At present the strikers number 330 engineroom hands, 160 deck-hands and ten cooks.

HAMBURG'S SHIPPING

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 8.—Entries of ships into the Port of Hamburg during 1923 totalled 11,264, with a tonnage of 12,831,000.

U. S. WARSHIP PAYS VISIT TO YOCHOW, HUNAN

Bandits Less Bold-Mission Schools Carry On Despite Conditions

(Independent News Service)

Yochow, Hunan, Nov. 4.—U. S. S. Minesweeper "Finch", Capt. Perlman, arrived Oct. 30th, and commander has been calling on local officials. Northern troops of the 50th division are occupying Yochow and district. Cheng Ju-jian has recently moved his headquarters from Chengling to Yochow City. There is not so much movement of troops at present, and under these conditions the situation is more stable both in the city and surrounding country.

The local militia have been considerably reorganised through the country and are reported to be more effective than for some months past. These, together with the camps of soldiers here and there, make the bandits somewhat less bold. They are bold enough still, however, and though we can find no confirmation of a report ostensibly eminating from Yochow to the effect that a band of several thousand is operating in this neighborhood; still is true that there are bands of both "big bandits" and little bandits" (the former having guns, the latter only knives) operating throughout all the country districts.

Government schools, as is inevitable under disturbed political and military conditions, find it difficult to do much. Mission schools, however, both at Huping Christian College, Lakeside, and Ziemer Memorial Girls' School at Yochow, together with all the Associated Primary Schools in Yochow and surrounding towns are carrying on in full force there being about a thousand students enrolled, and some seventy or eighty teachers, Chinese and foreign, employed.

The Canton-Hankow railway administration have succeeded in opening traffic through to Changsha again: first passenger train went through on Nov. 2d.

NEXT U.S. MAIL COMES ON PRES. MCKINLEY NOV. 15

Mail for the States and Europe are to go on the steamers President Pierce and Chili this morning. The Pierce, with mail for America, will sail from the China Merchants' Central Wharf at 9:30 o'clock for San Francisco via Kobe and Honolulu. Mail to be sent on this boat closes at 7:30 a.m.

Taking mail for Europe via the Suez, the M.M. steamer Chili is to be dispatched from its moorings this morning, and the tender with passengers for the vessel will leave the French Mail Jetty at 9 o'clock. Mail matter should be posted before 7 o'clock.

The next mail from the States will arrive on the President McKinley on November 15, and the Empress of Russia, with mail from both Canada and the States, is expected at Woosung the following day. The French Mail liner Angkor, with the European mail of October 5, is expected to arrive in Shanghai tomorrow morning, and will dock at the P. M. R. Whangpoo Wharf around 10 o'clock. The Kaiser-I-Hind, from London on October 12, is expected to leave Singapore tomorrow afternoon, and arrives in Shanghai via Hongkong about November 21.

kong but the volume cannot compare with Shanghai. Unfortunately the efforts of Canadian millers to push their produce on the Shanghai market have not been crowned with success as Canadian flour is not suitable for a considerable part of the Chinese demand. The quantities that find their way into this market are small and are a mere bagatelle compared with the huge imports of American flour into Shanghai.

AN EXAMINING OPTICIAN IS U AN EYEWITNESS YA?

Billy Tingle Loses To Garcia In Title Battle At Carlton Boxing Show

Australian Champion, Floored Twice, Is Clearly Outclassed By Filipino Opponent In Twelve Rounds Of Sensational Fighting

By Westa

The frivolous foxtrotter gave way to the frolicsome fist at the town's leading temple to Terpsichore last evening, whereupon Senor Garcia, of Manila, turned the said temple into a Palais de Punch, and made of it a Chinese Waterloo for one of the city's most distinguished guests, the same being none other than the estimable Billy Tingle.

This was something of a surprise—in fact one might go so far as to call it a rude shock—to Billy and his host of friends. It was so much of a jolt, in fact, that practically all who witnessed the catastrophe were loath to accept it as an accomplished fact, despite the evidence of their own eyes. This of course was not due to any antipathy to Senor Garcia, who certainly has the good will of everybody in town who knows him; but because it was an outcome so widely at variance with what the vast majority had expected.

Bad as the outcome was for Billy, he is lucky that it wasn't worse. As the case stands he lost on a decision, whereas nobody would have been much surprised any time after the seventh round if the gentleman from Manila had dropped him for a haymaker. In that session he took the count of nine and took it in a manner that had most of the house believing for a few choking seconds that he was as out as he was down, and he was as down as the floor itself—sprawled flat on his back with not a flicker left, apparently, in either fin.

BILLY'S COMEBACK

At the count of nine, however, he jumped quickly to his feet; which for a time gave rise to the belief that he had been playing possum. This belief was soon dispelled by the manner in which the relentless Garcia rocked him with rights and lefts to the head and body, forcing him to cover continually. It was soon apparent after his session with the canvas that most of the steam had been taken out of the Australian's cylinders, and that he would be lucky to go the rest of the route. On numerous occasions in the final rounds the Filipino had him dazed almost to the point of grogginess, and if the hot scent of a kayo had not made the Manila boy a bit panicky he might have sent the plucky little Australian to the aviary.

In these last rounds Billy's ringcraft and fighting instinct came to his rescue, and enabled him to keep going when he had but little to sustain him in his traveling. He blocked a hundred wicked blows, and sidestepped a hundred others, equally wicked, any one of which had it landed would have finished him. Garcia was frantic in his eagerness to connect, but Billy's chin was tighter in its shell than any turtle's.

A JOLT FOR BILLY

The first surprise of the bout came in the fifth round in which session Billy took a count of six after he had apparently slipped to the floor. It did not appear that he had been struck, and when he failed to get up immediately the spectators were greatly surprised. They were more surprised when the tide of battle, which until then had been fairly even, began to go unmistakably in Garcia's direction. The Manila boy, greatly bucked by that evidence of weakness on the part of his rival, tore in with renewed vigor from that time on, and although Billy fought back gamely he could not stop Garcia from forging steadily to the front. Then came the knockdown for the count of nine which everybody knew would decide the battle, barring a knockout.

Garcia gave a magnificent exhibition except for his lack of headwork when his greatest opportunities offered. He was in perfect condition, fast, hard as nails, and absolutely catlike in his speed. Once, after overbalancing himself with a wild swing he went into a heel spin that whirled him like a top clear across the ring, but he came out of it and leaped at Tingle, all in one quick motion.

One thing that seemed to trouble Billy was the fact that in Garcia he found a boxer who was his equal at in-fighting. For every smack that he plastered against the Filipino's slats at close quarters he felt the thump of one, equally stinging, in his own midsection. This must have been a bit disconcerting to one who felt, as Billy had a right to feel, that he had a valid copyright on that particular method of attack.

FINE FIGHT

It was a beautiful battle to watch. It was full of action from start to finish, with both boxers letting fly with everything they had in stock, and both giving as fine an exhibition of defense as you could hope to see. Garcia, judged by his display last night, must have staged a comeon bout with Tigora a fortnight ago, since his showing then was nothing to what he flashed last night.

Billy on the other hand seemed at bit slow by comparison. He seemed slow particularly for the reason that he did not seem able to protect himself against the Filipino boy's attack, which to one of his ring knowledge should not have been difficult.

As to the rest of the card, the best of it was contained in the De Dios-Tigora scrap. The decision in this went to Tigora; which led to some vociferous dissent. Dr. O'Hara's decision, however, was not unfair, inasmuch as Tigora while fully equal to De Dios in all other departments was much more aggressive. All through the bout he jabbed De Dios in the face with his left, and while none of these jabs seemed to do any damage, yet the fact remains that Faustino did nothing to offset them. In one or two of the early rounds he rushed Tigora savagely, showering rights and lefts on the mad Moro, all of which the said Mad Moro very neatly blocked. The Doc could have called it a draw without spilling any beans or even tilting the bean pot, but on a strict consideration of points he was entirely justified in his ruling, the loud yowls of some of the gallery gods to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Favacho-Smith mix-up for the welterweight championship of Shanghai was won by Favacho, the title holder seeming to have it on the challenger a bit, particularly in the matter of aggressiveness. Bobby got himself in bad with some of the customers by hanging on the ropes at one stage, pretending to be hurt, and then suddenly springing at Smith when an opportunity offered. This didn't set well with the bugs at all.

As to the fight, Favacho had such an advantage in reach that the former Marine couldn't do much with him.

The preliminaries were productive of some mirth, which is about all you could say for them.

The crowd, considering the excellence of the card, was rather disappointing. Such an array of talent deserved a capacity house.

NEW ENVOYS NAMED

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Vicomte de Fontenay, the French Minister at Copenhagen, has been appointed French Ambassador at Madrid in succession to M. A. Defrance, who has been promoted to Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor.

The Prefect of the Alpes-Maritimes, M. Armand Bernard, has been appointed French Minister at Stockholm.

Mussolini Lightens Tax On Inheritance Of Fortunes

On the suggestion of Mussolini and the unanimous approval of the Ministry, the Italian Minister of Finance on July 21 abolished the death duties in family inheritance by ministerial decree.

The decree was so unexpected that the press instantly deluged the ministry with inquiries, believing that some mistake had been made. The decree does not mean that the entire inheritance tax has been abolished but that hereafter no duties will be paid for inheritance from husband, wife, or parents. Taxes on heirs outside the family have been measurably diminished.

The reason for this decree was said to be that in the fiscal year just closed actual receipts have exceeded the estimated receipts by 1,795,000,000 lire. In his statement to the Council the Minister of Finance took occasion to denounce the inheritance tax in general as the result of socialistic pressure during the last few years, while as a general policy it was false and led to the frittering away and dispersal of family fortunes, which should be kept intact for the good of the nation.

Navy Builds Seaplane For Submarines

This mechanical "humming-bird," built entirely of metal, was designed by Navy experts for use on board submarines. Assembled and ready to fly, it can be placed in any medium-sized room. It is approximately 15 fee' long and has a wingspread of 18 feet. When disassembled it can be stored in the submarine, from which it can be launched to spy out an enemy fleet.

Sikh Quarrel Is Aired In British Police Court

An echo of the case in which the finances of the Sikh Gurdawara were aired before the public was heard in the British Police Court before Magistrate G. W. King yesterday when Buddha Singh, Chief of the Sikh Police of Shanghai, and President of the Sikh Gurdawara charged four other Sikhs with threatening to do him bodily harm.

One of the defendants, Wasawa Singh, was dismissed as no evidence was produced again him, but the other three, Hernam Singh, Sadhu Singh, and Makkam Singh, were ordered to give bonds in the sum of $100 each to keep the peace for a period of twenty months, with the alternative of two weeks in jail at hard labor.

Mr. E. T. Maitland prosecuted, and three of the Sikhs were defended by Mr. A. E. Seddon, and one by Mr. Reader Harris. The evidence given by Buddha Singh and corroborated by two havildar majors and one jemadar of police was that Buddha Singh had gone on board the s.s. Takada on October 3 of this year to go on a holiday to Hongkong. The four Sikhs were alleged to have followed him on board and used threatening and abusive language to him. All were under the influence of liquor, the prosecutions witnesses said.

Hernam Singh was alleged to have asked "Who would take Buddha Singh's place if he were dead?" and then told his companions to take their revenge. They might hang for it, he said, but their names would be remembered in undying fame.

SIKH FINANCES

In cross examination Mr. Seddon brought out the fact that Buddha Singh was the president of the Gurdawara and that following a dispute over the finances of the organisation he was charged in the British Court in connection with $15,000. Buddha Singh admitted the statement but said that he had been acquitted of any wrongdoing. The charges, he said, three were, and became abusive had been framed against him by the four defendants in court, who were all natives of the same village, relatives, and enemies of his.

The defendants denied that they had threatened Buddha Singh. They had gone on board the ship, they said, to see some friends off to India, and had met the Chief and the other three officers on board. Buddha Singh was not drunk, they said, but the other acter of one of the defendants, Makkam Singh, after which Magistrate King gave judgment.

Chen Chiung-Ming Starts Desperate Drive To Oust Sun Yat-Sen From Canton

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Nov. 1.—A supreme effort is being made by the Kuomintang faction, led by General Chen Chiung-ming, to oust that headed by Dr. Sun Yat-sen from Canton. The operations on the East River during the last few days have practically driven Dr. Sun's forces back to where they were when the struggle began in that section some five months ago. Waichow remains in the control of General Chen's followers. General Chen's information bureau intimates from Macao that his followers have been ordered to cooperate in an offensive from several directions within the next ten days. Dr. Sun has also been told that the enemy has provisions sufficient to last fully twenty days longer, while he, himself, cannot always count on financial support. At present fighting is in progress nearer to Canton than at any other time since General Chen was driven out of the city, and may be counted upon as a decisive engagement for the future of Canton. Unless Dr. Sun is completely successful, he will be faced with grave difficulties. It has cost the Cantonese in Canton proper several million dollars in forced loans and confiscated property in order to enable Dr. Sun to obtain means to make the recent advance in the Eastern River districts, and General Chen's present attempt to come back has nullified all previous efforts. The next question is where can more funds be raised.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 31.—Governor Liao Chung-hoi if Kwangtung has tendered his resignation to the Generalissimo, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, but it has not yet been accepted. Dr. Sun is anxious to see Mr. Liao give all his attention to raising funds for the Constitutionalist Army, which is being prepared for another Northern expedition against Peking. Governor Liao was formerly Minister of Finance of the military Government. In the event of his persisting in his intention to resign, either General Hsu Chung-chi or Dr. C. C. Wu will be asked to accept the post.

The pressing of coolies in Canton into military service resulted yesterday in taking nearly 400. A ricsha coolie on the Bund thought he could escape the vigilance of the troops by jumping into the river, but was drowned.

The inhabitants of Canton are now not so obedient as they have been for the last few months, and have organised themselves into groups to oppose further and indiscriminate confiscation of property for war funds by the local authorities. The residents of Tungshan, Shaho, and other parts of Canton have organised themselves to deal with the official land investigators.

Inspired reports in the local press state that the three Peiyang gunboats, which escaped from Canton and deserted to the North, were all recaptured on attempting to pass the Bocca Tigris forts. So far no official confirmation of this rumor has been issued from Dr. Sun's headquarters.

Mr. Mei Kwong-pui, Commissioner of Public Lands in Kwangtung, Mr. Chan Lu, Commissioner of Finance of Kwangtung, Mr. Tang Chik-yu, Salt Commissioner, and Mr. Li Luk-chiu, Commissioner of the Municipal Department of Finance of Canton City, whose several offices are to be investigated by a special deputy of the Generalissimo, have all tendered their resignations. Since the war these have handled a large sum of money. So far no report has been published as to the conditions existing in these offices.

Cholera Case Is Reported In Osaka

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, Nov. 9.—A case of cholera is reported in Osaka, that of a maidservant, while a boy living in the same neighborhood, the Doshomachi, is under strict medical supervision having been reported as suffering from diarrhoea. The Semba police is enforcing preventive measures against the spread of the disease.

Paris Replies To Swiss Border Note

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 8.—In the reply to the Swiss Federal Government's Note on the question of the free zones, the French Government indicates that the decree providing for a Customs cordon on the frontier from November 10, principally aims at freeing the population from uncertainty. Continuation of direct negotiations would be preferable in the opinion of the French Government to arbitration which ought to be considered only in the event of the pourparlers being unsuccessful.

FINAL RETURNS FAIL TO ALTER U. S. ELECTIONS

Little Change Is Recorded In Political Views Of Nation

(Exclusive China Press)

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from all thirteen states in which elections were held on November 7 show that, as first returns indicated, little change in the political complexion of the country has been recorded by the voters.

The Democrats were victorious in electing their gubernatorial candidates in Kentucky and Mississippi, the election of Governor Field of Kentucky coming somewhat as a surprise because of the strength developed by the Republicans in the last state elections, but the election of the Democratic candidate in Mississippi was merely an expression of the same old political feeling in the solid Democratic south.

The chief victory recorded by the G. O. P. was in the election of Mr. Porter D. Hale as Senator from Vermont to succeed the late Senator William P. Dillingham, Republican, of Montpelier.

(The election of Mr. Hale was incorrectly referred, to in a Reuter's dispatch printed yesterday in which he was called 'Mr. Porterdale'.)

The Republicans also elected three members of the House in contested elections as against four Democratic representatives returned.

Soviet Envoy In Canton; Seeks Pact With South

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 30.—M. M. Borodin, a Soviet trade representative, is now in Canton, with the object of establishing relations between Russia and South China. In a recent statement published in a paper supported by the local authorities M. Borodin said:

"I believe that it is part of a very subtle, sometimes even unconscious propaganda to make the world believe that China is so 'different,' so 'backward' that it is sorely in need of the civilising influence of the more 'forward' countries. It serves as a justification for what the foreigner does here, for extra-territoriality, foreign courts, concessions, the Customs being in foreign hands, and for foreigners assuming the role of protectors of the integrity of China and of its sovereignty. It allows foreign publications on Chinese soil maliciously to vilify and slander patriotic public men. It gives the innumerable servants of foreign interests here the opportunity of treating the laboring people of China as if they belonged to an inferior race, of leering upon them with contempt. This is called the burden of the so-called civilised countries is civilising so-called backward countries."

Referring to the Russian revolution and the movement in South China, M. Borodin declared:

"All classes of the Russian people have sacrificed a great deal for the revolution. But the brunt of the struggle fell upon the laboring classes. It is to those who fought in the trenches in the civil war, who worked on scanty provisions to supply the army and who kept Russia cemented together, that the success of the national struggle is due. In consequence of their victory they have created such conditions of our national development as will inevitably result in the greatest good for the great masses of the people. As concerns the labor movement in China, I believe that the most important condition for its development lied in its alliance with the national struggle for the unification, freedom and independence of China. This can be attained only by the success of the national struggle led by the Kuomintang Party. So long as China remains in her present semi-colonial state, labor has no hope of ever achieving its aims."

The Permanent Constitution

In 204 B. C. Tsin, the First Emperor, completed the building of the Great Wall. It was 1,500 miles in length and from 15 to 30 feet in height and 200,000 men had been engaged upon it—many of them criminals—for ten years. The object of the wall, which was called Wan Li Ch'ang Ch'eng (Myriad Li Wall) was to protect the Chinese people from the incursions of the Tartar tribes and in that it proved successful for many long years. In 1923 A. D. the First Parliament completed the building of another Great Wall which is called "The Permanent Constitution." Eight hundred Members—some of them criminals—were engaged on it, also for ten years, and its object was to protect the Chinese people from the incursions of the Tuchun tribe and their myrmidons—may equal success attend its operation!

As a piece of work the Constitution is as short as the Wall was long, but it is equally well constructed for the purpose in view, and really an admirable production. There is nothing extravagant or unreasonable in it and, were it but possible to bring it into operation, practically all China's difficulties would be smoothed away at a stroke, and the country become a land of the free, if not a home of the brave. Here are a few of the good things which it provides for a long oppressed people:

That the citizens shall not be arrested, imprisoned, tried or punished except in accordance with the law, and shall not be kept in prison without trial; that their residences shall not be entered or searched, and that their letters and correspondence shall not be violated. None of these liberties are at present enjoyed by the ordinary citizen who may be arrested, imprisoned, detained without trial, and even subjected to capital punishment with no questions asked. His residence may be invaded at any time by the police, who may search for and take away anything they please, and his correspondence may be violated, or never delivered, and there is no redress.

Then, under the Constitution the citizens shall have the liberty of free speech and publication without restriction save according to law; they may form societies and profess any religion they please, and best of all for the present hour they shall have an inviolable right to the possession of their property, and cannot be taxed beyond the limit which is imposed by law. Further, their children are all to be provided with an elementary education. Under Tuchun rule any man's property can be taken from him at any time if a good excuse can be invented, and taxes of the most exorbitant character may be imposed, or levies collected, whenever the Tuchun is in need of more money for his soldiers. Further he will divert legitimate taxes—such as for education—from the purposes for which they are required and put the money into his treasure chest or use it for meeting military expenses. Under the Constitution such practices must be discontinued.

The Constitution will clip the claws of the Tuchuns in other ways. Under it no Province (which in this connection means Tuchun) shall be allowed to possess a standing army, or to have military schools or arsenals. All the national troops shall be under the control of the Central Government, and no others shall be allowed to exist. No Province (Tuchun) shall be allowed to attack another Province or to act in a way which shall be detrimental to its interests, or that of any locality. If this can be enforced the Tuchun game is up for, deprived of their armies, these independent and irresponsible gentlemen will become quite harmless and can be dealt with as readily as any ordinary citizen.

The Constitution evidently contemplates that China shall have a conscript army. There is to be system of compulsory citizen service. The citizens liable to serve shall be called together for training in accordance with specified recruiting areas, and when trained their sole duty shall be national defence. The strength of the national army shall be fixed by Parliament, as also the amount of money which may be devoted to it, and this must not exceed one quarter of the national annual expenditure. The maintenance of public order shall be in the hands of the police under the control of the provincial authorities. The Parliament, as well as the army, will be overhauled. Its members shall be the representatives of definite electorial districts, and their numbers in proportion to the population of each of these, also no member shall be allowed to hold concurrently any official post, whether civil or military.

Where the scheme will break down is in the lack of some driving power to enforce it. Its mainspring is that everything must be in accordance with the law, but where is the law, and how can it be got to operate? China has now got a Constitution and no law, while Great Britain has got no written Constitution but plenty of law, and it is the general body of law which stands for the Constitution. The mere writing of a Constitution in China will not make up for the other lack. There was a man up the Han some years ago who invented a self-moving boat. It was not to be driven by steam, electricity, springs or any other kind of motive force but by wheels. He filled his junk with wheels and still it would not go, so finally he had to give up the effort. He explained his failure by saying there was still another wheel wanted and he could not fix it in for want of room. In China's Constitution the wheel of the law is needed in order to drive all the rest, but it is impossible to see how it is going to be fixed in.

Still the Permanent Constitution should prove of great value. The ordinary citizens now know what their rights are and will strive to secure them, while a direction and goal has been pointed out towards which they will travel. It means progress.—Central China Post.

Father And Son Dinner At Navy 'Y' On Friday

The third "Father and Son" dinner for the American community of Shanghai will be held in the Navy Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening, November 16, at 7 o'clock. All American men and boys over ten years of age are invited to attend. Men who have no sons of their own will be furnished a son for the evening from among the American School boarders, if they will let their desire be known.

A very pleasant evening is assured for Mrs. Brown of the Navy "Y" has promised her best menu the "toasts" and "toasters" have been carefully selected and some rare wit and wise counsel is anticipated from both fathers and sons. Music will be provided by the School Orchestra and a special committee is looking after appropriate decorations.

Tickets (each good for one man and one boy) may be secured (for $2.00 Mex.) from Dr. W. G. Hiltner, Rev. C. M. Drury, A. C. Ellis at the Navy "Y" or by writing or phoning to J. C. Clark at the Chinese "Y"

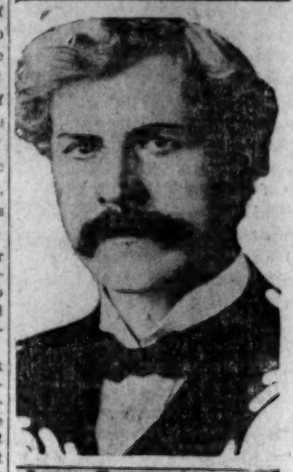
MacDonald Leads Opposition In Parliament



By a strange turn of the political wheel, James Ramsay MacDonald, prominent pacifist an Opponent of war, has been elected as "Leader of His Majesty's Opposition" in the British House of Commons. For the second time MacDonald, who is a Socialist, has been elected head of his party, defeating John Robert Clynes, Food Controller during the World War.

BRUNSWICK PHONOGRAPHS

Reproduce All Tonal Beauties

The fidelity of Brunswick reproduction has set a new standard in phonographic tone value. Any ear not necessarily musically trained can detect its superiority of rendition.

The Brunswick method of Reproduction is exclusive, scientific, exact. The Ultona, at the turn of the hand, presents the proper diaphragm and proper needle to each make of record. It brings out tones hitherto lost.

The tone amplifier, being moulded of rare woods on the violin principle, avoids all harsh and strident notes. Tones are pure and clean. The voice or the instrument carries its own character to the hearer's ear in all its original value.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:

1°.—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°.—The Debentures will be issued at Tls. 97 each

3°.—The Debentures will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100 each) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st December 1923 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

4°.—The Debentures will bear interest at 6% per annum, payable on the 31st day of May and 30th day of November in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

5°.—The Debenture Certificates will be issued and bear interest from 1st July 1923.

6°.—Applications for Debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat, from June 20 next. A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for and payable on June 30th must be deposited at the same time.

7°.—Applications for Debentures under 97 will not be recognised by the Council.

8°.—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. Legendre, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 31st May 1923.

By Order,
P. LEGENDRE
Secretary.

REGISTERED OFFICE OF THE COMPANY.

No. 10, Ice House Street, Victoria, Hongkong.

PROSPECTUS.

(a.) This Company has been formed principally for the purpose of building houses in the Colony of Hongkong with a view to meeting the great demand for housing accommodation which exists in the Colony at the present time.

(b). In particular it is proposed to take advantage of the offer recently made by the Government for the grant of land for building purposes on the basis of the scheme explained by The Colonel Secretary at a Meeting of the Legislative Council in June, 1923.

The Promoters are in a position to state that they have completed negotiations for the acquisition from the Government of the plateau below "Jardine's Lookout," which is capable of accommodating 150 to 200 semi-detached houses. The Promoters are also in treaty with the Government for numerous other sites in good localities.

The Promoters have already received about 2,000 applications from persons desiring to obtain the assistance of the Company in building homes for the applicants.

The Promoters will also entertain, and, if thought advisable take up any other schemes or schemes which may be proposed by the Government for the acquisition of land for building and development.

(c) The Company is also empowered by its Memorandum of Association to undertake business of all kinds connected with the development of building areas.

(d.) The minimum subscription on which the Directors may proceed to allotment is 100,000 shares.

(e.) No commission or promotion money is being paid by the Company.

(f.) The Company will pay the preliminary expenses of and incident to the formation and floating of the Company down to the time when it becomes entitled to commence business, and the estimated amount thereof is $5,000.

(g.) Frederick Ellis will be the first Managing Director under a contract with the Company at a remuneration of 5 per cent. of the net profits of the Company.

(h.) The Articles of Association provide that the qualification of a Director is to be the holding of 500 shares in the Company and that the remuneration of each of the Directors is to be $1,000 per annum.

(i.) None of the Directors or Promoters are interested in the promotion of the Company except to the extent of the shares taken by them in the Company.

(j.) Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the Company can be inspected at the office of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, Solicitors for the Company, at any time during business hours.

(k.) A copy of the Company's Memorandum of Association is annexed to this Prospectus and forms part to it.

(l.) Application for shares should be made upon the form accompanying the Prospectus and sent to the Company's Bankers together with a remittance of $1.00 per share, the amount of the deposit.

Where no allotment is made the deposit will be returned in full and where the number of shares allotted is less than the number applied for a proportionate amount of the deposit will be returned.

(m.) Prospectuses can be inspected at and Forms of Application obtained from the Company's Bankers, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and at and from the offices of the Company at No. 10, Ice House Street, Victoria, Hongkong.

Dated the 20th day of October, 1923.

Prospectuses and application forms can be had at

1921 Voting Valid, Says Shantung Tuli

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 6.—General Cheng Shi-ci, the newly appointed Tuli of Shantung, has, according to report, also declared himself in favour of recognition of the Parliamentary election of 1921. In a communication to the Government he is credited with having urged that that election must be declared null and void before the projected Parliamentary election announced by the Government can be considered valid.

French Watching Wine Trade Here

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The question of export of French wines to China was raised today by Senator De Monzie, who asked the Minister of Commerce whether steps had officially been taken to ensure that the Chinese market would effectively remain open to French wines. The Minister replied that he was constantly in communication with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the French Commercial Attache in China for the purpose of safeguarding the interests of French wine exporters and seeking means for the development of such exports. He recalled, with regard to the consumption tax of 20 per cent ad valorem on wines and spirits at Canton, that France had informed the Chinese Government that the interested Powers reserved the right to claim reimbursement of the taxes illegally collected and as a result of the French representatives the same tariff was applied to German sparkling wines as to French champagne.

Collect Cigarette Tax At Ichang

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Nov. 6.—The collection of cigarette tax is being enforced at Ichang and Shasi, two important upriver ports in Hupeh. At Ichang the Cigarette Tax Bureau have gone so far as demanding extra squeeze besides the promulgated cigarette stamp tax tariff. The cigarette dealers decided not to pay the squeeze, while they have been paying for the cigarette stamps. Several British-American Tobacco Co. dealers of Shasi have been imprisoned upon their refusal to recognise the cigarette tax.

Protest New Hankow Taxes

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Nov. 6.—The Hankow Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Street Unions have formally sent their joint protest to the governor of Wuchang against the proposed three percent house tax in Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang. In the petition the Chamber and Association stated that people in this center cannot bear the burden of this increased tax in addition to many new ones recently instituted.

Americans In Eastern Asia

TO those who worry about American policy toward China, who often are at a loss to understand why the United States reacts in certain ways in its various relationships with the Orient, we recommend the perusal of a new book recently published in the United States and now on sale in the various book stores of the Far East. The title of this book is, "Americans in Eastern Asia." (The MacMillan Co. N. Y.). It was written by Mr. Tyler Dennett, a man who has traveled extensively in the Orient and who probably has read more diplomatic documents in the archives of the State Department at Washington and in the files of the American legation at Peking and the embassy at Tokio than has been the privilege of many individuals.

This book of Mr. Dennett's contains some 700 pages of material and it should be in the library of every American in the Far East and well might be used as the basis for courses in history instruction in the various schools for American children in China, Japan and the Philippines. Other foreigners interested in international political and economic tendencies in the Orient will find much of interest in the book and the Chinese naturally will be interested in it for it constitutes the first authoritative account of Chinese-American relations from the early clipper ship days down to the Boxer rebellion.

The book is of special interest at this time, sufficient interest and importance to merit calling editorial attention to it, for the reason that it points out the significance of the element of co-operation on the part of the Powers in dealing with China. American policy toward China since the beginning of American contact with Asia has been either a policy of co-operation with the other powers or a policy of isolation. Co-operation has not always succeeded in gaining the desired ends and neither has the policy of isolation, hence the value of this book in pointing out wherein each has failed.

At the present time the chief nations of the world interested in affairs in the Far East are following a policy of co-operation in respect to China. The nine powers whose delegates signed the Washington Conference treaties are in definite co-operation on many common lines of policy all calculated to improve conditions in this part of the world. Sixteen powers co-operated in a note to China last summer on the subject of banditry and internal disorder. Nine powers are in treaty co-operation to investigate the subject of extra-territoriality in China and the same nine powers are also in treaty co-operation to assist China in abolishing likin and readjustment of customs duties. The four powers chiefly interested in the trade of the Yangtsze have been trying for nearly a year to come to an understanding on the subject of protecting foreign lives and property in this district of China. Co-operation in the past from the standpoint of the United States has not always been general co-operation. There have been periods when America and Japan stood together and there have been periods when America and Great Britain stood together in respect to situations arising in China.

Mr. Dennett wrote this book in Washington which fact is important from the standpoint of impartiality, for as he says, "there is something in the atmosphere of Asia which makes it very difficult for most people to see the half-tones. All has a tendency to appear very black or very white." He does not regard "Great Britain as the benevolent source from which all blessings flow," not does he find the Englishman the arch mischief-maker of world politics. He regards the Japanese neither as innocent lambs nor ravening wolves.....Each nation, the United States not excepted, has made its contribution to the welter of evil which now comprises the Far Eastern Question ..... and furthermore "no nation, either East or of West, has escaped the valid charge of bad faith." For this reason this book should be of interest to the Englishman, the Continental, the Chinese and Japanese as well as the American for here they are all pictured as they appear in the records of Washington as reflected in the messages of the Secretaries of State and the various ministers and ambassadors who have represented America in Tokio and Peking.

The all important element at the present time in the dealings of the various Powers with the Far East, is co-operation, according to Mr. Dennett. "A wreck of the newly established co-operative policy would in the end lead to belligerancy, and very likely to still further acquisition of territory by the United States," he states and says further, "the maintenance of a co-operative policy is ..... so utterly important for the peace of the East and of the world, that it is well to turn one's attention to the records and study well why and where the co-operative policy of the past has failed. Such a study is quite as important for the Japanese, the French, the British and for the other peoples of the West as it is for the Americans."

The Plight Of Dr. Sun

THINGS are not going well in Canton. A comparatively short while ago travellers returning from the southern capital spoke in high terms of the manner in which the city was being run by subordinates of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and great hopes were held that he was in a fair way towards proving his ability not only as a leader of revolutionary forces, but as a man able to attract efficient and enthusiastic administrators for the various phases of civil life of that portion of China which has been rather more than usually consistent in its allegiance.

Reuter's message which we published in these columns yesterday deals with an energetic protest addressed to Dr. Sun Yat-sen setting forth a long list of grievances and calling for immediate remedy. The list is imposing in the extreme detailing the following complaints:

The tale of woe includes; indiscriminate confiscation of private property on the slightest pretext, thus evicting thousands of families from their rightful homes; pressing of persons for military service, thus depriving many homes of their heads, mostly rice-winners who have families to support; reopening of gambling houses and the opium traffic, which is held responsible for the present crime wave: murders in the streets and kidnapping within the city and brigandage and piracy outside the city limits: commandeering of private launches by troops for their own uses, thus stopping all inland river traffic and suspending trade imposition of numerous forms of taxation which have led to strikes and the closing down of business in many trades.

The picture of life in Canton thus drawn is neither pleasing nor any sort of favorable commentary upon the government which Sun Yat-sen is fighting so desperately to maintain. Property rights have been seriously infringed, individuals are subject to the continual menace of the press gang, gambling houses, which in the first flush of reform were abolished, are now again plying their trade, and opium is again raising its head from the dark shadows to which it had been relegated. The general impression created is that life in Canton is unsafe for the majority of the people. Danger to life and limb and to property, and liability to enforced service in the firing line are apt in the best of times to impose a strain on the fidelity of the most loyal peoples, and the loyalty which the Cantonese have given Dr. Sun justifies them in expecting better treatment than they appear to be receiving.

It may and, apparently, is being argued that the trouble is caused not so much as a result of slackness on the part of the leader himself but rather by the acts of subordinates taking advantage of the serious preoccupations engaging the present attention of their superior. But no matter the cause, it is clear that a continuance of such a state of affairs, must tend to sap that remarkable loyalty which has been Dr. Sun's mainstay in the past. Faced with a serious offensive on the East River, and with a recent campaign not entirely one of victorious record, Dr. Sun has behind his lines a people not altogether pleased with the fortune which has smiled on their arms, and harassed by evils of government hardly to be tolerated by any self-respecting community. Again he seems to be building on sand, for whatever fighting force he has at his disposal is based on a city which has had its loyalty tested to the utmost; the force itself is composed largely of men who have no stomach for fighting, and but for the press gang would have left it to others. The revenue producing offices are in the hands of Yunnanese troops who have accounts to collect, and with all these disadvantages Dr, Sun has to meet an enemy stronger than was at first estimated, with the additional handicap that whatever funds he still has are rapidly running short.

The plight of his party is desperate. Anything short of a decisive victory in the East River offensive would be dangerous, and defeat would be fatal to the Southern leader's present hopes, and enfail the fall of Canton into the hands of his enemies. If his advisers had thought that victory would excuse the irregular methods which they have adopted to secure funds in order to continue the campaign, they were mistaken. For even had it been successful many of the thinking Cantonese would have had their sympathies alienated by the hardships involved by such illegalities. It would seem now, almost too late to hope to effect much by promises of reform, for those who have protested will not be content with promises while the East River offensive is more than likely to become past history before even the smallest step can be taken to remedy the evils which have raised so strong an outcry. A first step should, undoubtedly, be to dismiss those of his followers who are guilty of creating all this trouble behind his lines, but even then we doubt if this would produce such a revulsion of feeling in his favor as to do much to mitigate the alarming plight in which Dr. Sun seems to find himself.

HAPPINESS A DUTY

THE man who expects prosperity is constantly creating money in his mind, building his financial structure mentally. There must be a mental picture of the prosperity first; the building around it is comparatively easy. It does not take as great a man to place the material around the idea as to create the idea, the mental picture. This is not idle building, mental planning, mental construction. Dogged imagination is often one of the most practical of faculties; the true dreamer is the believer, the achiever.

Let us put up a new image, a new ideal of plenty, of abundance. Have we not worshiped the god of poverty, of lack, of want, about long enough? Let us hold the thought that God is our great supply, that if we can keep in tune, in close touch with Him, so that we can feel our at-one-ness with Him, the great source of all supply, abundance will flow to us and we shall never again know want.

The poor man is not always the one who has little or no property, but the one who is poverty-stricken in his ideas, in his sympathies, in his power of appreciation, in sentiment; poverty-stricken in his opinion of himself, of his own destiny, and his ability to reach up, who commits the crime of self depreciation. It is mental penury that makes us poor. How few people realise the possibility of mental achievement, the fact that everything is created by the mind first, before it becomes a material reality!

A Morgan or Rockefeller mentally creates conditions which make prosperity flow to him. The great achievers do comparatively little with their hands, they build their thought, they are practical dreamers; their minds reach out into the infinite energy ocean and create and produce what the ideal, the ambition, calls for, just as the intelligence in the seed reproduces the tree plan coiled up within itself.

To be prosperous we must put ourselves in the prosperous attitude. We must think opulently in thought; we must exhale confidence and assurance in our very bearing and manner. Our mental attitude towards the thing we are striving for and the intelligent effort we put forth to realise it, will measure our attainment.

Parsimonious saving by cheeseparing efforts does not compare in effectiveness with the results of obeying the laws of opulence. We go in the direction of our concentration. If we concentrate upon poverty, if want and lack predominate in our thought, poverty-stricken conditions must result.

We must conquer inward mental poverty before we can conquer outward poverty.

Opulence in the larger sense in which we use it is everything that is good for us, abundance of all that is beautiful in life, uplifting and inspiring; abundance of all that is sublime and magnificent; opulence is everything that will enrich the personality, the life, the experience.

True prosperity is the inward consciousness of spiritual opulence, wholeness, completeness, the consciousness of oneness with the very Source of abundance, Infinite Supply, the consciousness of possessing an abundance of all that is good for us, a wealth of personality of character that no disaster on land or sea could destroy.

Editorial Comments

CONFLICTING news comes from Canton. A Peking report states that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has fled for Shanghai on a gunboat, while a Reuter message dated much earlier, namely October 29, mentions the wholesale desertion of Sun's Navy. Big things undoubtedly are happening in the South and the next few days should unfold a surprising picture. Brisk speculation has been in progress for some days as to how much longer the present government in the South will hold out. The air is charged with misgivings, and it looks as if the Sun administration, if it has not already done so, will come down like a pack of cards.

Private advices received in Shanghai confirm the report that Sun has fled, and his son, Sun Fo, the Mayor of Canton, has already taken refuge in Hongkong. A significant feature of the happenings in Canton is the message carried by Reuter's that the Canton Merchants' Volunteer Corps, under its commandant, Chan Lim-pak, has taken control of the city, and is maintaining order. The Volunteer Corps, it can be truly said, is the only organisation so far formed in China to voice the righteous indignation of the populace against militaristic power' and the existence of such a body, where everything else in this country has been mercenary, gives rise to great hopes that one day its influence will spread and effect much good for China.

This Volunteer Corps was formed primarily to fight in the South the orgy of high-handed tyranny and utter injustice. There is the germ of a brilliant idea in this Volunteer Corps, and very likely it will play an important role in the new change of government in Canton. It is composed of merchants who are sick and tired of the exactions of the government and its maladministration and who have armed themselves to oppose authority. Adherents have been joining rapidly, and a surprising fact is that they have been able to secure arms, the members being fully equipped in this respect.

Where disorder reigned in the city, the Canton shopkeepers and traders have been able by sound organisation to thwart the officials and make the area patrolled by them immune from disorderly incidents. They have succeeded in holding their own against the government in the South, and Reuter's intimation that these merchants are once again in the saddle prompts us to think that the influence of the Volunteer Corps will spread far and wide. We foreigners welcome this new sign of a revulsion of feeling on the part of the mercantile community against militaristic and grasping officials. We believe that a new chapter in China's political history has been opened, and the happenings of the next few days will be watched with keen interest by all well-wishers of the country.

SHANSI AND ITS GOVERNOR

The following appreciation of Governor Yen of Shansi is from the progressive British newspaper, the Manchester Guardian.

There are many competent observers of Chinese affairs who despair of any effective reorganisation of the country. But a visit to the mountain province of Shansi will show what can be done, given competent government, to produce order out of existing chaos.

It is eleven years since General Yen Hsi-shan was appointed Tutuh of Shansi. His was one of the first appointments under the Republic, and he has remained in his post since then; his title has altered in the interim to that of Tuchun and Civil Governor.

General Yen was born in 1882. He graduated from a Japanese military staff school, but his first act on assuming his governorship was to propose the universal disbandment of troops, and he himself led the way by dismissing some thirty thousand of those under his direct control. Nevertheless, his small remaining army of twenty thousand appears to command respect, for the province is never involved in the wars which run riot on all sides amongst the other Tuchuns, and banditry is practically unknown in Shansi, though it is quite possible that local footpads exist here and there.

The civil government is as effective as is the military, for Shansi is the only province which has effectually put down opium.

Governor Yen Hsi-shan not only issues strict orders as to the suppression of opium, but he tours the province to see that those orders are carried out, and woe betide the official who dares to evade them and is caught. If an official is reported to be addicted to the pipe himself, he is promoted to a post at Taiyuanfu, where he is under the Governor's personal observation for a probationary period. If he still yields to his vice his post of authority will see him no more.

All the passes into the province are watched by the military police, as is the railway, and smugglers have small chances and great risks if they wish to deal in opium in Shansi.

This is by no means the only sign of public spirit, for in addition to the roads built two years ago by the American Red Cross China Famine Relief, the Governor has had constructed some hundreds of miles of motor and cart roads at provincial expense, greatly benefiting trade throughout the countryside. A forestry scheme has also been started, and a school of forestry was founded in Shansi in 1916 which is doing excellent work, though its funds are limited. Governor Yen has experimented in sheep-breeding, importing sheep from Australia, to see if a strain suitable to the Shansi hills could be obtained.

The province produces over four million tons of coal per annum, a fourth of China's total output, and it is estimated that Shansi alone would be capable of supplying the demands of the Far East for many years if her coalmines were fully developed on modern lines.

A Reminder

Just when I had forgotten,
There ever was a time
When people sent me messages
All cluttered up with rhyme,
When people sent me presents
All tangled up with string,
There comes the sad reminder
Of that diabolic thing:

"Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

Just when a sweet Nepenthe
Had bathed my soul with hopes
There comes this counter to the chin
That knocks me through the ropes;
There comes this fated warning,
This grim and awful knell!
The Merry Yuletide's coming soon
Merry—What tha—

"Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

Life is so darn short at best
Why can't they let us be?
'Twas Christmas only yesterday,
Or so it seems to me,
And now in all the papers
It's creeping back again,
That tantalising, hypnotising
Terrible refrain:

"Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

WHAT IS LOVE?

IS the answer the same through the ages, or—
DOES Love vary with each generation?
IS Love now, after such a climactic event as the World War, different from the love of the days of our fathers and mothers?

Readers of THE CHINA PRESS continue to send in their definitions of 'What Is Love?' Some are good, some are bad, some indifferent. They follow, in fact, the various loves of the so-called human race. You are asked to submit your views.

Dear Friends:—

In answer to the question "What is Love?" there cannot be found a more perfect definition than the one we have had before us for centuries in The Book—"Love is the fulfilling of the law." Though the broad meaning of this is love to all men, yet we can say that that peculiar kind of love which men and women have toward each other is simply obedience to the law of life and nature which says that each shall seek his mate. Though we call this love, it is more correctly, affection, and it is the natural attraction of the two members of the human creature to each other.

Love really is reverence to God and kindness to all men. "Love never faileth." It is the only thing in earth that will endure, and only those shall live who belong to love.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. C. M. Cottrell.

WHAT IS LOVE?

Love is an unfathomable enigma. Egoism, affection, sex desire, attachment, lust, passion, fondness, endearment, self sacrifice, devotion, adoration, charity, maternal instinct, filial piety, patriotism, jealousy are all stages of love, but not love itself. Even collectively they do not define love, for love knows no such limitations as other emotions are subject to.

Love is a divine gift and yet the only gift God expects of us.

In short: GOD IS LOVE.
H. K.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotics, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

"Willie's" Departure From Holland Is Discussed At Conference

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Conference of Ambassadors has decided to ask the Dutch Government not to permit the German ex-Crown Prince to leave Dutch territory and the German Government not to permit him to enter Germany on the ground that he is on the list of war-criminals, whose surrender is demanded by the Allies.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Conference of Ambassadors this morning considered the consequences which would result from the return of the ex Crown Prince to Germany. The Temps learns that in this connection suggestions will be submitted to the Allied Governments and that since Monday the British Ambassador has had conversations with M. Poincare on the question of Germany's attitude in the event of the return of the Crown Prince. The same journal confirms that the Stresemann Cabinet, whilst the Ministers were still sitting, decided for reasons of humanity to allow the Crown Prince to return to Germany and to reside at Oels in Silesia.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 8.—It transpires that the Ambassadors' Conference did not take a decision on the question of the German ex-Crown Prince's proposed return to Germany, but referred it to their Governments.

Wife Sues For Her Alimony

Mrs. P. James Doyland sued her husband for $378 arrears on a maintenance order granted in January, 1922, before Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court yesterday. Doyland explained that he was earning only $75 a month at the Continental Bar and could not afford to pay the amount. The case was adjourned to give him an opportunity to secure witnesses.

Cotton Reports

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton: The market has had rather a more active appearance during the past week accompanied by quite a revival in speculation, and at the close last night an average net advance of about two taels was held, with sentiment still almost unanimous in favor of much higher prices. Conditions are such that speculators of all sizes seem to have become imbued with the idea of very high prices for cotton in the near future.

The demand for spots continues good, with indications that receipts will continue to be freely absorbed, at least until forward engagements have been satisfied. Holders of actual cotton seem to be quite content to accept present values and are paying little attention to the admonitions of so-called leaders to hold back their cotton for higher prices.

Under the circumstances, therefore, we fail to see any reason for taking a bearish view of the situation, and believe that the chances are in favor of higher prices.

Yarn:—The market during the past week has been keeping very firm, with a further stiffening of prices until an advance of nine taels from last week's level has been attained, market closing strong. Demands are as healthy as ever, in fact, phenomenal for this time of the year. Some 8-9,000 bales of local spinnings changed hands for export and over 3,000 bales direct booking with the Mills has been recorded.

SPUNT'S REPORTS

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their weekly report on the cotton market:

China Cotton.—A further rise of Tls. 2.00 per picul above the level last recorded has been realised during the week under review, and the tendency at the close inclines to still firmer markets, notwithstanding the fact of actual business transacted being comparatively very small, and there being no pressing demand as yet evolving from local spinners in general. The higher rates now ruling in the raw cotton markets are being more favorable reflected in the appreciation of yarn values which has shown an elevation of about Tls. 11.00 per bale since our last issue. Mid-Americans according to New York quotations have risen, since our last report, by 353 points for December, 1923, 367 points for January, 1924, 395 points for March, 402 points for May, and 402, points for July, delivery and it is in sympathy with such advances that the rates on the local staple appear to have been adjusted and from present indications will continue to regulate itself in future in the same direction. The unfavorable weather conditions coupled with the boll weevil ravages combined with the recently cabled incessant bullish crop reports have served to effectually eliminate any hopes at present of realising for the season 1923-24 an American Cotton crop above 10,000,000 bales, and should such ultimately prove to be the case we cannot but foresee universally higher prices prevailing, and would therefore recommend purchases on any and every slight reaction that may naturally take place during the course of this season. Tone of the market.—Firm.
